

The Quantock Quest

Issue 18
July 2018

A Division of Somerset Beekeepers Association

Decluttering—now there's a word to strike fear into my heart.. As a lifelong magpie the thought of having to part with long-forgotten treasures that—may come in handy one day, are of sentimental value, may come back into fashion, can be fixed (probably), just needs a coat of paint—yes, the excuses are many and various! Very occasionally something found at the back of the cupboard may find it's way to the charity box, or worse, the dustbin, but now, I have a rival for those special hidey holes—a beekeeping husband! I thought I was bad, but beekeeping equipment? No contest. It mysteriously appears, little stacks of Apideas by the back door, a bee suit hanging on the back of a door. Cupboards begin to fill with candle moulds, Queen Cell Cups appear on the draining board and wax simmers in the slow cooker.

I don't know whether to feel pleased to be living with a fellow magpie or worried that all the spare corners are being snapped up.

Ring a bell? Jackie
